ABOUT THE EVENT:

This is an essential touch point for Ohio legislators and those who work with child policy. It can be difficult for policymakers to balance competing priorities with limited resources and also to maintain a clear focus on the needs of children. But, while priorities may change from one legislative session to another and one budget cycle to the next, the needs of children remain the same—a loving support system, nourishing meals, access to high-quality healthcare, safe neighborhoods, quality schools, engaging community activities, and a variety of college and career options. It is important for advocates, direct care providers, and families to visit the Statehouse for lunch with legislators—sharing their stories, challenges, and successes so they can encourage strong investments in programs and services.
